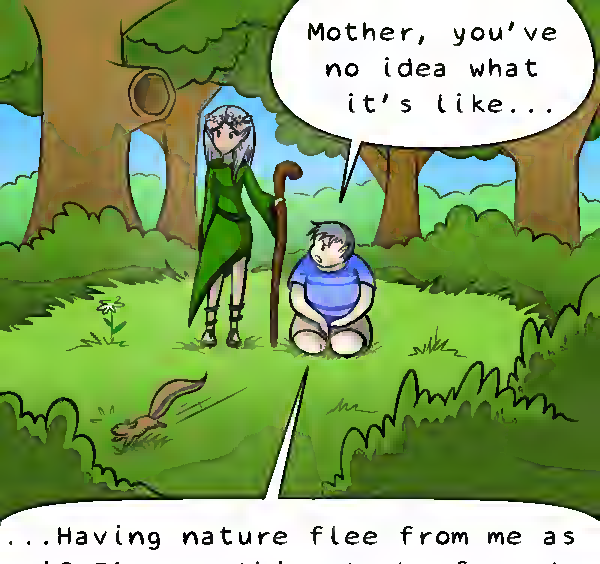
What's wrong, Cooper?
sigh



Mother, you've no idea what it's like...
...Having nature flee from me as if I'm something to be feared.

My son, you forget that elven blood runs in your veins. Through me, you will always have the companionship of nature.

However, you are only half elf. If you recall, your father was a pile of human garbage.
But hey! I hear Raccoons are super into that.

Befriend nature on your own terms, son. Perhaps you could try channeling your inner human trash?
Hmm... You know, that just might work.

YO, WHO WANTS SOME CHIPS?!
RUSTLE!
